Say it with (dried) flowers

Yearning to inject a bit of nature into their urban lives, Parisians have fallen for the quaint charm of dried flowers. Heading the trend are sisters Marion and Pauline Buihat, who were working on opposite sides of the Chanel (in finance and fashion) when they decided to drop everything and open a boutique entirely devoted to herbers – framed collections of pressed flowers, exotic leaves and grasses, such as the one pictured here (prices from €70). It also hosts regular workshops where you can craft your own floral masterpieces (€65).
